Forward

This 1934 "Memories" goes forth embodying all the hopes and fears, all the smiles and tears, all the joys and sorrows of our high school life. Brightly adorned with the golden memories of our school days, gleaming with truest friendships, it carries best wishes of 1934 that the days to come will be as happy as the days gone by.

Congratulations

We, the Class of '34, wish to extend our hearty congratulations to Dr. Daniel J. Cray who has recently been re-elected Superintendent of the Pittston City Schools for the fifth consecutive term. He has always kept our schools up to the standards of the present day and has co-operated with the students in every activity. May he continue to carry out the same policy for the years to come.

Senior Class History

WE, the Class of '34 were a humble, appreciative and inquisitive group. We had imitations but they melted away before our boundless ambitions, and with hopes and plans of four years before us, we began to trace the history of our student days since the peaceful Freshman year of 1930-31.

As Freshmen we went along through the school term gleaning the knowledge that our good teachers were endeavoring to impart to us. Near the end of the year we chose as our worthy President, George Gombert, who was chairman of our commencement exercises in which some of our oratorical ability was displayed by James Callahan, Emanuel Walters, Mary DeMarco, John Venskus, Helen Fisher, Grace Reap, Miriam Sammon, Catherine Kirkpatrick, and Thomas Redington. With our Freshman year behind us, we advanced to the next rung on our High School ladder.

As Sophomores we seemed a little surer of ourselves, since we had entered the Senior High School. For our officers we selected Michael Acquilina as President; Helen DeLaney, Vice-President; Mary DeMarco, Secretary; and Eugene Soo Hoe, Treasurer. In this year we proved ourselves worthy athletes by winning the Senior High Baseball Championship.

Going into our Junior year we spread out into many activities—athletic, scholastic, and social. We presented many worthy candidates for our football and basketball teams. Outstanding in our scholastic achievements was the Juniors' victory over the Seniors in the annual Latin Club Debate, and our many social events were brought to a fitting close by the reception given the Seniors by the Junior Class.

Our officers in this eventful year were: President, Ralph Rollo; Vice-President, Evelyn Miller; Secretary, Elsie Szczygielski; Treasurer, Samuel Allu.

Now we had arrived at the top rung of the ladder, our Senior Year. We decided to make this an unusual and splendid year. This was a hard task, but we showed ourselves capable of carrying it out. First, athletically, by winning the Senior High Interclass Basketball Championship. Second, scholastically, upsetting all traditions by defeating the Juniors in the annual Latin Club Debate, and by a number of dramatical presentations. Third, socially, being able to adjust ourselves to new conditions promptly and effectively by conducting a Spring dance and later a May dance under the new system of executive committee leadership.

Our history as a Class is complete. The ending, we trust, is worthy and has fulfilled the promise of a bright and hopeful beginning. Pittston High School has been the source of our inspiration and endeavor, so, however humble our work, may our efforts always show the worthy purpose and high principle we have learned to follow here.

Class Prophecy

ONE bright summer afternoon in the year, 1954, after leaving the office where I was employed, I longed for a change of scenery. After walking an hour I came upon a nice, cozy and inviting nook in the grove. Here I decided to rest for a while. While sitting on the bank of the nearby stream my thoughts drifted on with the current. The first sound to disturb them was the applaud given the leading soloist of a famous Metropolitan Opera, who was none other than my former classmate, Frances Mack. Discovering this fact it was quite easy for us to recognize her accompanist as Mary DeMarco.

As they left the stage I heard the announcement: "Tomorrow evening the World Wide artists, Mr. Angelo Anzalone and Esther Catell, will present one of their celebrated programs."

When the curtain fell, these signs caught my attention: "See the New Castellina Aeroplane Roadster", and below this, "America's Leading Fashion Shoppe, operated by Misses Josephine Alaimo and Agnes McDonald." Then this sign, "Travel faster and safer in the new wingless Aeroplane owned by George Boljonis;" "Exclusive Millinery—Miss Jean Parrek." In the midst of my amazement I found myself ushered from the theatre with the crowd, among whom I recognized Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferretti, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Gerlak, and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Pizzano.

As I hurried along the street I noticed an electric sign "Hotel Fox," a familiar name I thought, and just then I met an old friend Anna O'Rourke. Yes, Anna has attained great prominence in New York's Business Circles. I asked, "Have you heard from any of our class mates?" She told me that Clara Beundi was now New York's greatest social editor and Margaret Wargo was America's greatest female writer. But Elizabeth Bantell surprised everyone by taking up Red Cross Work.

Michael Aquilina, after graduating, followed the medical career and is now quite famous in the field of medicine. Helen DeLaney, Helen King, and Marjorie Connell are High School Teachers.

Angela Walkavage was a Modiste and conducted an establishment on Fifth Avenue, New York. Eugene Bidwell is a member of the Chicago police force. Lawrence Becker has a position as a football coach in one of the New Jersey High Schools; Anna Keblaitis is now supervisor in a hospital in Buffalo, and working with her in the same institution are Rose Bonita, Mary Morris, Frances Mazon, and Mary Franco.

While I was listening to all these strange happenings, a large limousine drove up to the curb and a fashionable lady alighted. My surprise was unbounded when I discovered her to be Helen Hogan, the same as of old. Helen invited me to lunch at Hotel Fox and promised to give me an account of her trip around the world.

After we were comfortably seated, I inquired about the music. I found it to be supplied by none other than Daniel Mancini and his High Hat Orchestra. In Paris she had met James Callahan who was a teacher of English at the University there. While in Petrograd she called at the office of Joseph Bright who is now running the Soviet Government. He has been very successful thus far. There were only five revolutions last month.

In Berlin she had visited Carmella Collisto who has selected the beautiful city as her home. George Gombert was one of the leading instructors at Oxford. Josephine Sgro and Josephine Saporito had charge of one of the prettiest and most popular Tea Rooms in the city.

Arriving in Shanghai one morning, she saw a man standing in a balcony throwing coins to the children in the street. Running up to obtain a closer view, she discovered he was Soo Hoe, who returned to visit the land of his ancestors. After leaving China, she started for San Francisco aboard a modern steamer. The ship was in command of Joseph Whyte. As she passed through the Golden Gate, she heard her name called, and looking around she saw Joseph Wasko, a former classmate. Helen learned from Joseph that the Ziegfield Follies had performed there the preceding month, with Ralph Doyle in charge.

After a pleasant stay at Chicago, she visited Notre Dame to see her old friend, Joseph Fasciana, President of the University; Isadore Jaffe, very greater than his predecessor, Knute Rochne; and Emanuel Walters, the Dean of the College of Engineering.

Suddenly Helen turned to me and said, "What about Pittston and our other friends?" I was glad to relate to her what I knew. Yes, she remembered Hilda Kaproch, and was not surprised to hear she was now instructor of the Lithuanian Girls Club, nor was she surprised when I told her Vincent Panuski was private secretary to the President of the United States. John Sgro was President of "Jake's Tonsorial Syndicate"; Donata Penella was the owner of a pretty little flower shop; Anthony Staro had a long term contract with the Paramount Studios in Hollywood; Dominick Rostock was President of the Prudential Life Insurance Corporation; Michael Sperrazza, John Lynn, and Dominick Keller are members of the New York Giants. John Venskus has just won out in a hard fought primary election for the Governorship of Pennsylvania.

Erminio Cefalo is Editor of The Pennsylvania Times, of which he is the founder. Sam Marzola is a prominent and prosperous business man. Lucy Amico is conducting a Beauty Parlor, and Maurice Mogavero has the best equipped Television Service Station in the State. Ralph Rollo was the City Treasurer and John Rocatto was Judge of the Federal Court. Joseph Amico had succeeded in becoming one of the finest undertakers in this part of the country.

Just at this point I heard a noise and awoke to find it was growing dark and time to start for home.

Sometimes dreams come true.

Junior Class History

THE present Juniors entered the Freshman class in 1931. At first we were a group of bewildered, inexperienced students, realizing at last that school had begun. As the year rolled by we became accustomed to our studies and environment. Thomas McCrone was selected President. In June, 1932, the class held commencement exercises which were presided over by Superintendent Cray.

The following Fall the Class of '35 entered the school grounds, their faces expressing joy to meet all their old friends and teachers. After the first few bewildering days, the Sophomores at last realized that they were members of the Senior High School. Under the capable supervision of our principal, Miss Battle, we were soon organized, and our work began. The classrooms organized clubs, elected officers, and a bond of firm and loyal friendship existed from the beginning to the end of the school term. The class officers for this successful year were: President, Charles Aquilina; Vice-President, Stephen Carrol; Secretary, Isabel Smith; and Treasurer, Jane Hastie.

On September 7, 1933, the present Junior class returned to school. Soon, the classes were organized, and the usual routine began. The bulletin board, announcements, and programs by Miss Battle, served as revealers of various activities held by the Junior class.

Several friendly contests were experienced between the Juniors and Seniors, but the latter were surprised at the hardihood and ability of their opponents, and were satisfied only in knowing that they were their successors.

Many Juniors have brought recognition to our class through participation in a number of school activities.

Many lovely programs were presented in the auditorium of our High School, which were helped by the wonderful cooperation of the students and the supervision of our teachers.

Now we await the beginning of our Senior Year, but dimly do we appreciate all that lies before us.

THE SOPHOMORE GIRLS AND BOYS

Sophomore Class History

HOW did we enter Senior High School? Meek and modest and half afraid, but through the untiring efforts of our teachers and most worthy principal, Miss Elizabeth G. Battle, we became accustomed to the new routine. It was a routine well loved and admired by all Sophomores. Every member of the Sophomore group seems willing to admit that the first year of Senior High School was the most interesting and most exciting year ever spent.

During the year, the Sophomores were repaid ten-fold for their interest in the activities of the school. Entertainments of all descriptions were put on by both Junior and Senior High classes. The plays produced by the lower grades were well plotted and were generously numbered, much to the delight of the Sophomores. Basketball games and the Latin Club Debate were satisfying to those Sophomores present. The motion pictures that were displayed by certain firms were considered educational to us.

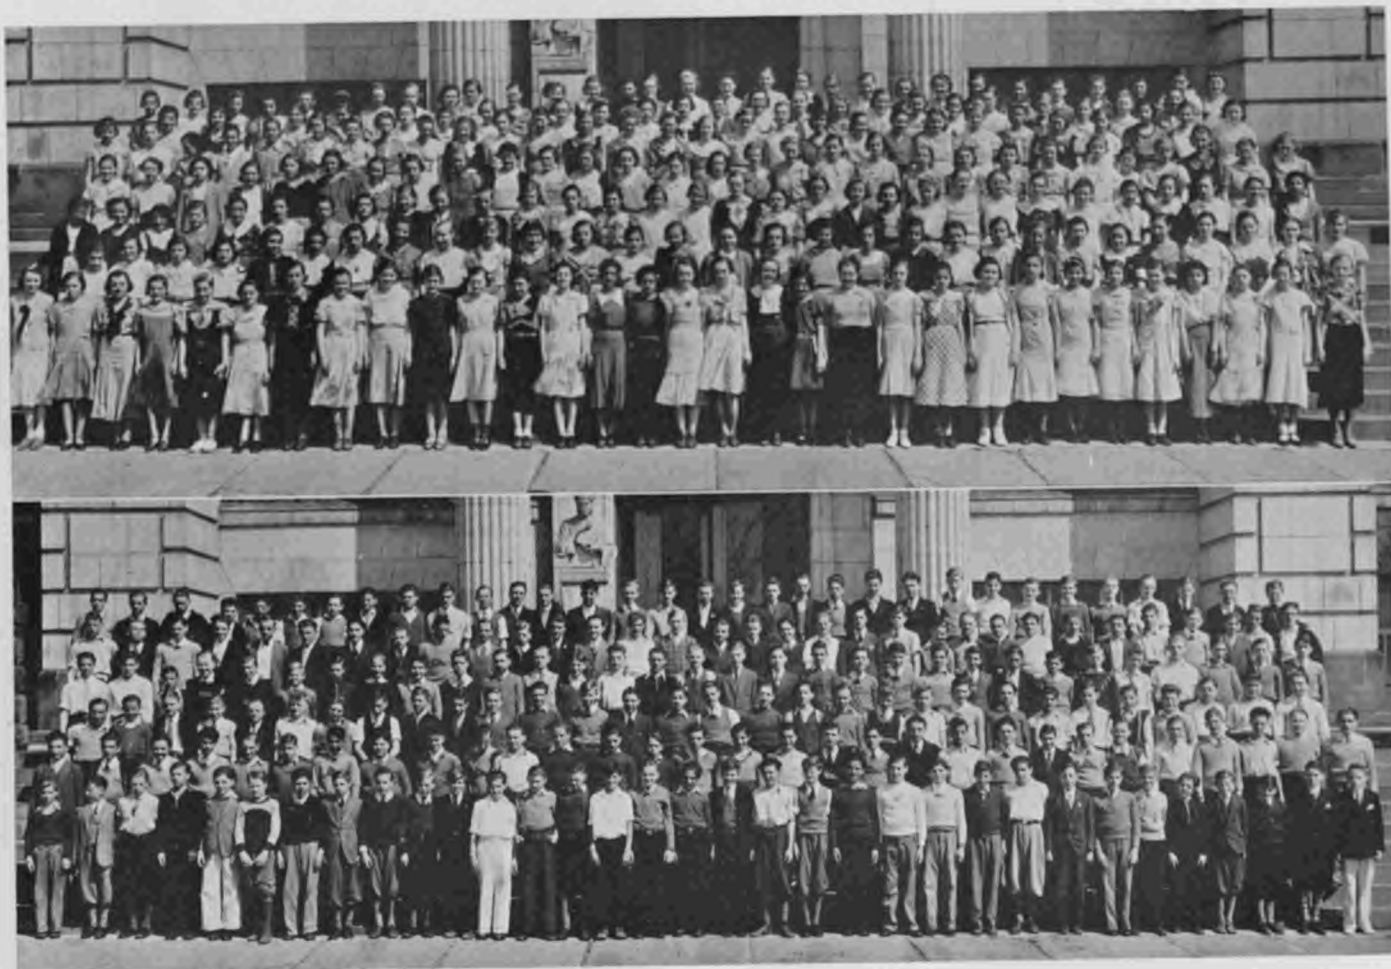

Many new members were added to our groups during the past year, and we feel sure that they are now considered and treated as classmates.

Many thanks to the teachers who devoted their untiring efforts to the Sophomores of 1933-34, and we want them to feel that we are grateful for the knowledge that they have instilled in our young minds.

Our days as Sophomores are numbered and with the passing of the first year only two years remain in which to accomplish our many aims.

THE FRESHMAN GIRLS AND BOYS

1934

Freshman Class History

THE beautiful summer rolled by in a very short time, and we were back in school in September 1933. The Freshman Class appeared to be a college class, and the teachers were our Professors. The usual drag started again, but deep down in their hearts the lads were glad to be back in school.

A few new clubs were organized, and the old ones furthered their activities. The Madame Curie Science Club, under the direction of Mr. Sharpe, started a new year in October. Miss Barrett's Art Club was continued. A new club was formed by Miss Stortz for the promotion of short story writing. This organization was named "The Freshman Author Club."

A vast number of programs were presented to us in the auditorium. A few of the outstanding ones were: The Toymaker, a Christmas play presented by the seventh grade; two Science programs were featured by the Madame Curie Science Club; and Washington at Valley Forge, presented by the Eighth grade.

As the year went by and the weather became warm, it soon was promotion time. Practice for Commencement exercises began and was topped off by a play directed by Miss Gibbons and Miss Flaherty. The welcome address was delivered by the President of the Class.

Now comes the end of our Freshman days and we eagerly await the entering into Senior High School.

—Edward Burke, '37.

Farewell!!

FAREWELL! What a wonderful meaning this word has. Although it is used in every walk of life, it seems to convey volumes when it comes from the hearts of Seniors departing from the portals of their Alma Mater.

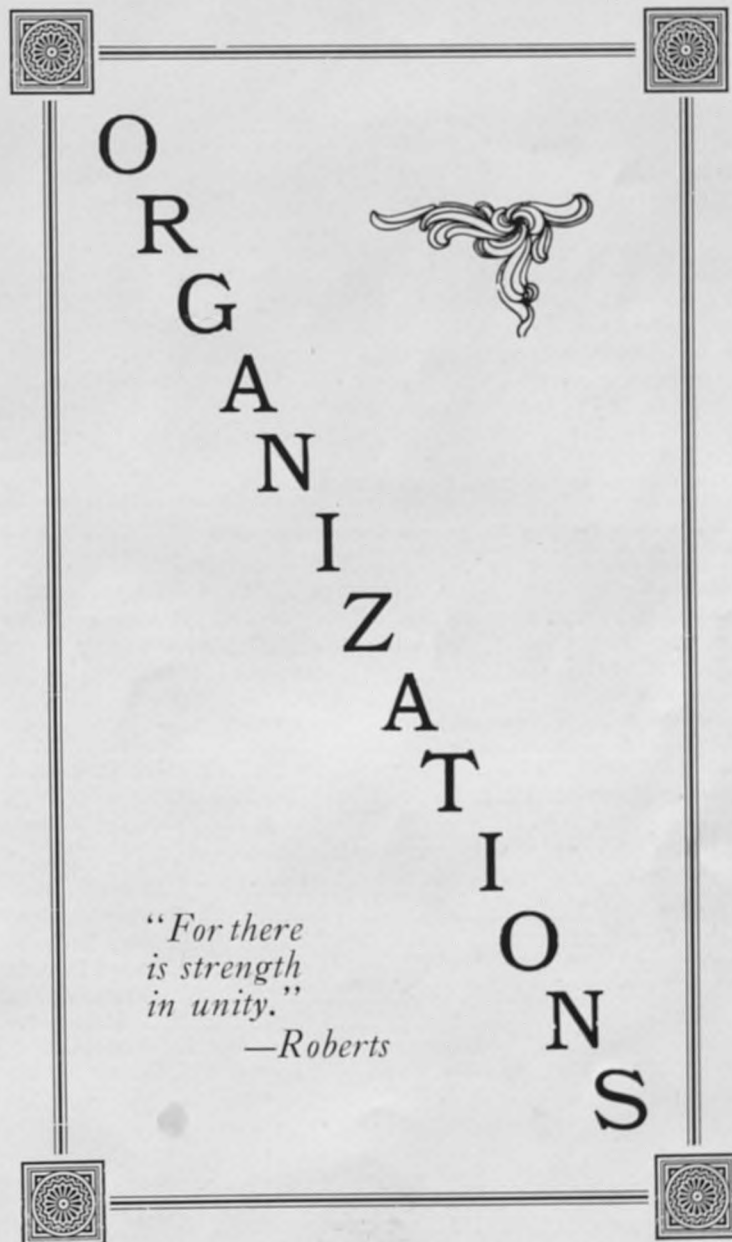

For four supremely happy years under the guidance of our Alma Mater, we, the Class of '34, have been climbing the ladder to reach the heights of success. Filled with great enthusiasm and the joy of youthful activities, what happy days they have been! Our days were carefree; every moment brought us some new treasure—perhaps of knowledge, maybe of friendship formed, perchance a dream came true. Yet these four years, which seemed long to us, held other greater things than play. There was ever a shining goal ahead, and always before us our truthful motto—"To Strive, To Seek, To Find, and Not to Yield."

With untiring energy our teachers sought to create in our minds a volume of knowledge. We can find no words to express our gratitude to our teachers. Their sacrifices will remain in our memories and will lead us to efforts that the world may one day behold in each of us the valiant man and the valiant woman—the man and woman who knows his and her own duty and does not shirk it. We had our sorrows, our petty disappointments, perhaps, but these go to make us hardier sailors on the sea of life. It was a glorious four years—the happiest years of our lives thus far. As for the future —?

We have lingered long on the past. It is declared that man shall ever go forward in this course of life. So we must look on over the sea of life. The hour of our going out from the haven of our high school days is fast approaching. Our boyhood and girlhood days will soon be over. In a few years to come where shall we find ourselves? Only time will tell. The last word "farewell" is upon us, but let us not forget its meaning. Farewell, then, dear Pittston High School, Teachers, and Classmates. We shall not forget each other for we are all united for a common purpose.

THE Staff of 1934 has succeeded in producing one of the best Annuals yet published in Pittston High School. This, however, was due to the splendid cooperation of every member of the staff, aided by the advisors.

The 1934 graduating class, numbering 244, is the largest in the history of the school and it can readily be seen how much harder the staff had to work to make a success of the Annual. The write-ups, pictures, and all additional information were generously and excellently contributed.

THE "Revealer," inaugurating a new plan of publication, proved a financial and literary success. With the fine co-operation from every member of the staff and the backing of the entire student body, the "Revealer" was able to be published thrice during the school year 1933-34. Editorials and literary contributions received much favorable comment from outsiders and the faculty.

Much of the success attained may be attributed to the new plan of publication. This plan required the "Revealer" to be issued three times during the school year, which is a great accomplishment for the Class of '34. We do hope that the staff for the coming years will uphold the standard set by the "Revealer" of 1934.

The Honor Club

A MEETING of the Senior Honor Club of the Pittston High School was held on December 8, 1933. The purpose of the meeting was to elect officers for the year. The successful candidates were:

President	Michael Aquilina
Vice-President	Frederick Fox
Manager	Leonard Barnes
Stage Manager	Frank Castellina
Secretary	Marion Orr
Entertainment Committee	John Rocatto, Mary Franco, Leonard Abate, Bertha Crowther

The club held a social gathering on May 17, 1934. A delightful program was prepared by the entertainment committee. A light luncheon was served and everyone had an enjoyable evening.

—Marion Orr, Secretary.

The Math-Science Club

THE Math-Science Club consists of members of the Senior High School who have either three years of Science or Mathematics. A meeting was held in the early part of the year and the following officers were elected:

President	James Callahan
Vice-President	Francis Corcoran
Treasurer	Sara Calabro
Secretary	Margaret Wargo

On April 27, 1934, the club conducted a dance. The gymnasium was beautifully decorated. The music was furnished by a prominent orchestra. The attendance at this dance was large and everyone had an enjoyable time.

—Margaret Wargo, Secretary.

The Commercialite Club

THE Commercialite Club, under the supervision of Miss Pauxtis, is composed of students in the Commercial Law and Office Practice classes. On December 20, the following officers were elected:

President	Dominick R. Rostock
Vice-President	Sam Marzola
Secretary	Frances Mack
Executive Committee	Frederick Fox, Erminio Cefalo, Julia Cukauskus, Frances Prekel

The club members have worked unceasingly to insure the success of our High School publications. On May 17, the club visited the Pittston Stove Foundry and enjoyed a thorough inspection of the plant.

On May 11, the club held a social in the High School gymnasium to mark the close of a successful year. Every member attending enjoyed a delightful evening of entertainment.

—Frances Mack, Secretary.

The Royal Roman Latin Club

THE Royal Roman Latin Club held a meeting in the early part of the year and elected the following officers:

President	George Gombert
Vice-President	Charles Aquilina
Secretary	Mary DeMarco
Treasurer	Ralph Rollo
Tribunals	Michael Sperazza, Jane Hastie, John Rocatto
Faculty Advisor	Miss Genevieve Healy

During the year the club has been very active. At the regular monthly meetings the study of Roman life is pursued.

The fifth annual debate was held in March. The subject was: "Resolved: That Caesar Was Greater Than Napoleon as a Man, a General, and a Statesman." The affirmative speakers were: Anna Sakalouskas, Sam Provenzano, and Bert Levin. The negative speakers were: John Rocatto, Ralph Rollo, and Sam Allu. The negative team received the decision.

On May 28, the annual initiation and reception for new members was held. Eligibility includes a grade "A" in Latin.

—Mary DeMarco, Secretary.

The American History Club

THE American History Club is composed of Junior students who have attained an average of "B" or above in History and 90% or above in Citizenship.

This Club, under the supervision of Miss Conlon, held a meeting Wednesday, May 9, and elected the following officers:

President	Isabel Smith
Vice-President	Joseph Maruca
Secretary	Jeanne Sammon
Treasurer	Jane Hastie

—Jeanne Sammon, Secretary.

The Madame Curie Science Club

THE Madame Curie Science Club, under the supervision of Prof. Sharpe, began its year in October. Elections were held and the following officers were installed:

President	Edward Burke
Vice-President	Joseph Barrett
Secretary	Raymond Poludniak
Librarian	James Sfarnas
Scout	Ralph Aquilina
Examiner	Robert Eaton

During the year the club lived up to the reputation it earned as a forum for the dissemination of matters of scientific interest. Several programs were held during the year for the whole Freshman Class. A program of special interest was presented to the Junior High School Faculty on March 1, 1934.

A hike to Gardner's Creek was enjoyed in May. The weather was ideal and the boys voted the outing the most enjoyable they ever had. The successful year was closed by a social function held in the latter part of May, and the affair was enjoyed by all the members.

—Raymond Poludniak, Secretary.

The Art Club

THE Art Club consists of pupils who are members of the Art classes. The chief purpose of the club is to create interest and appreciation for art.

On October 26, the new members were initiated by the old members of the club.

A party was held on April 19 in the gymnasium. Instrumental music was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by Miss Battle and Miss Barrett. The gymnasium was beautifully decorated by members of the club for the occasion.

The officers for this successful year are:

President	Sidney Cheesic
Vice-President	Thomas McCrone
Secretary	Anna Butera
Librarian	Joseph Solano

—Anna Butera, Secretary.

Activities

Senior Spring Dance

THE Senior Class held a Spring Dance on April 13. The attendance was large, and everyone present enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent.

The gymnasium was decorated with soft spring colors, which made a striking contrast with the dark walls. The music was furnished by a prominent local orchestra.

Angelo Anzalone was chairman of the event.

Senior May Dance

ON Friday, May 25, the Senior Class held its annual May Dance. A very large crowd was present and the evening was a merry one for those who attended.

The gymnasium was beautifully decorated in a Spring attire and a beautiful atmosphere prevailed. The dance music was furnished by a local orchestra.

John Sgro was general chairman of the affair.

Junior-Senior Reception

THE Junior Class again this year, as in previous years, held a social for the entertainment of the Seniors. This affair was one of the best presented by any former Junior Class. Both Juniors and Seniors seemed to be a merry group and if there were any enmity between the groups on this night, all was forgotten, as they were a happy family.

The Juniors have proved themselves capable of upholding the proud heritage of our Alma Mater. Therefore, the Class of '34 wishes to thank them for this delightful Junior-Senior reception.
